

Goettsch Partners

Goettsch Partners, a Chicago-based international architectural firm, needed a complete web site overhaul to reflect their brand and showcase the scope of their award-winning work. They also needed a Content Management System (CMS) that would allow them the flexibility and autonomy to quickly make in-house site modifications.

From visual design, navigation and architectural structure, to reworked functionality and content, Brainforest developed a site that more effectively conveys this world-class firm's caliber of work. The result? A new site that provides a user-friendly and seamless experience for visitors, along with an appropriate CMS to support it.
